

World's Grain Exhibition and Conference

Regina, Canada, July 24 to Aug. 5, 1933

What has come to be referred to as "The World's Grain Show" is in reality a grain and seed exhibition and a conference upon problems having to do with the production, transportation and marketing of all kinds of field crop products.

It is an all-Canadian undertaking sponsored by the Federal and Provincial Governments of the Dominion. All countries of the world have been invited to participate.

A beautiful, new, all steel construction, stucco finish building, providing a floor space of approximately 150,000 square feet, has been erected on the grounds of the Regina Exhibition Association for the purpose of housing the competitive and educational exhibits.

Approximately forty countries, states and provinces have already declared their intention to take part, and exhibits in the competitive classes will come from all parts of the world.

The conference programme will contain the names of many of the most widely known and most experienced agriculturists and technical experts in the world.

Grain judging competitions open to teams from any country in the world is an added feature which is attracting wide-spread interest.

The World's Grain Exhibition and Conference opens at Regina, Canada, on July 24 and closes on August 5, 1933.
